

Casa Nueva Late Reserva

Chile | Central Valley

Art. Nr. 18055

Wine Description

Made from hand harvested, fully ripened Cabernet Sauvignon grapes, this wine is full of juicy blackcurrant and plum flavours, with gentle tannins making it a very easy drinking red wine.

Region Description

Chile has a long viticultural history dating back to the 16 century when the Spanish conquistadors brought 'vitis vinifera' vines with them as they colonised the region.

From these early beginnings, Chile is now the fifth largest exporter of wines and the ninth largest producer in the world.

The Late Reserva heralds a welcome return from the Echeverria family vineyards located just a few kilometres from the foothills of the Andes mountains. Due to this great location the vines benefit from intense sunlight, ideal temperatures and pure melted snow water from the mountains for irrigation.

Food Pairing:

The Late Reserva can be enjoyed on its own or with strong cheeses and game.
