

Dorsheimer Pittermannchen Riesling

Germany | Nahe

Art. Nr. 53662

Wine Description

Ripe stone fruits, suggestive of peach and nectarine, characterise the wonderfully warm and intense aromas. The elegantly integrated acidity gives a fresh, lifted feeling on the palate. The mineral notes combine with the fruit flavours for a juicy, harmonious taste. A wine with a great balance and an excellent structure, which offers potential for good ageing.

Region Description

The Nahe has 2,000 years of wine-growing tradition and is protected from cold winds by the high Hunsrück mountains. The predominantly mild temperatures and the abundance of sunshine create an excellent climate for viticulture on the Nahe. Grape varieties such as Riesling, Rivaner and Silvaner grow on around 4,200 hectares in the beautiful Nahe valley. Around three quarters of the vineyard area is planted with the finesse-rich Riesling.

The vines grow on volcanic porphyry, loess or clay soils, as well as on shale. This makes it possible to plant a wide range of grape varieties.
