

Chablis, Chateau de la Chaume

France | Burgundy

Art. Nr. 63025

Wine Description

This Grande Reserve Chablis has a citrus and white flower aroma with a dry, lean, light-bodied flavour of apple and pear. One of the most noticeable characteristics of this quality wine is a long, elegant finish of high acidity and flint-like minerality.

Region Description

The Château de la Chaume is located in the town of Corgolin in the Côté de Nuits, homeland of classic French Burgundies. Corgolin is perhaps best known for its quarries which produced an outstanding marble used in the construction of many famous buildings throughout the world.

The ruined castle on the estate once belonged to the Marey-Monge family who were very influential in the city of Beaune. The Monge part of the name came to prominence largely because of Gaspard Monge (1746- 1818), the inventor of descriptive geometry (the mathematical basis of technical drawing).

The terroir of this area is ideally suited to the production of perfect Chardonnay grapes which have been used in this outstanding Chablis.

Food Pairing:

Foods such as smoked salmon, pike dumplings, as well as soft cheeses are perfectly suited to this stunning wine.
